THE LITTLE MAID'S CONCLUSION.

The Little Maid's Conclusion.
A little maid of seven summers had been busy for an hour dressing and undressing her pretty doll; but, tiring at last, she sat with folded hands gazing fixedly in the glowing fire in the grate.

Looking up finally, with a thoughtful expression on her face, she said:
"Mamma, if I get married when I grow up, will I have a husband like papa?"

The mother turned and, looking down into the earnest eyes of the child, answered, with a smile:
"Why, yes, dear; if you get married you will have a husband like papa."

The little brow clouded. Again she asked:
"If I don't get married, will I be an old maid like Aunt Nellie?"

"Yes, dear; you would be an old maid," answered the mother, laughing at this rather complex question. "But whatever put such thoughts in that little head?"

But the child didn't laugh. She only looked grave and said dejectedly:
"Well, it's a pretty tough world for us women, ain't it?"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Looked the Part.
The emaciated, weary looking individual on the park bench is laughing heartily to himself.

Chancing to look in our direction, and observing our mute wonderment, he checks his laughter long enough to explain:

"In April I was run over by an automobile and had no sooner got out of the hospital than I suffered a sunstroke; then I was laid up during May and June with typhoid fever, and only just managed to get out again this morning when a footpad stopped me and took all my money and my watch."

"But you are laughing. What seemed funny about all that?"
"Why, just a minute ago a friend of mine happened along and spoke to me and said: 'Hello! Took your summer vacation early this year, didn't you? You look as if you had had the usual good time.'—Chicago Tribune.

He Had It.
Doctor—Mr. Enspeck, I fear your wife's mind is gone.

Mr. Enspeck—That doesn't surprise me. She has been giving me a piece of it every day for ten years.

They Do Cut a Figure.
"You talk about women being so smart," said Smithers, "but I notice they don't cut much of a figure in finance."

"Humph! Have you ever heard of any man any sharper than Hetty Green?" asked Mrs. Smithers.

"Oh, she's an isolated case. But a woman in a financial institution, except as a stenographer, is an exception."

"The day will come when women will be employed in the banks."

"If they ever are they'll be there as tellers." And then the incident was closed for half an hour.—Baltimore World.

Shutting Him Off.
Newpop—I have an unusually smart little boy.

Nagsby—Yes. So I've been told. Newpop (dattered)—Ah, who told you?

Nagsby—You did a moment ago.—Boston Herald.

Unmentionable.
Teacher—What does bu-l-ly spell? Johnny—Why—er—

Teacher—Come, come! Suppose a great, big boy were to strike a little fellow, what would you call him?

Johnny—I don't dast ter tell yer, ma'am.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Diplomacy.
"She married the president of one of the big trunk lines, I believe."

"Yes. I 'spose she did it so she could have her extra trunks taken without being compelled to pay for excess baggage."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Where the Danger Lies.
Young Hatch—Don't you worry about this leap year business. The pretty girls don't have to propose, and the homely ones are afraid to.

Old Batch—Yes! But there are the widows!—Browning's Magazine.

Special Privilege.
When Gwendolyn is practicing the parrot hides his head; Of crackers he disdains to sing; His appetite has fled.

The cat is shivering in the coal, The dog wails forth his woe, When she says "do, re, mi, fa, sol," And likewise "la, si, do."

They regulate the newboys' shout; The street piano, too, Is told by ordinance stout Just what it may not do.

The city's gates within, But nothing stops from morn till night The voice of Gwendolyn.—Washington Star.

THE FUNNY PUFFER.

A Fish That Blows Himself Up Into a Round Ball.
The funniest little fellow in salt water is the puffer or swell fish. Fishermen call him the blow fish.

When he is swimming around at ease with nothing to alarm him he looks queer enough, for the skin of his abdomen is all loose and wrinkled, and he has such a funny little tail and such ridiculous little fins and such a big, three cornered head that he looks entirely absurd.

His mouth, instead of being big and gaping, is most fish months are, is only a tiny round hole at the end of a pointed, conical snout. Out of this circular mouth protrude his teeth, like those of a rabbit.

He would be about as homely a fish as could be made if it were not for the beautiful orange and yellow and silver colorings that play all over him.

But queer as he looks when he is at ease it is only when he is frightened or excited that he becomes really funny.

If he is hooked, for instance, he comes to the surface grinding those protruding teeth so that the sound can be heard a good many feet away. And then as soon as the hand touches him he begins to grunt hoarsely, and with each grunt he swells a bit till within a few moments he has puffed himself so full of air that he is quite round and firm like a ball.

So thoroughly does he distend himself with air that when the fishermen hurl him at the water with all their force, as they often do, he will bounce just like a rubber ball.

If he is dropped into the water after blowing himself full of air he floats on it as lightly as a thistle-down, and he will stay that way until he has assured himself that danger has gone by. He does the same when he is pursued by other fish. And as he floats almost entirely out of water, with only a little bit of his hard, spiny body sunk under the surface, very few fish can hurt him once he is inflated.

HIS CLEAR MEMORY.
The Witness Proved to the Lawyer That He Could Remember.

A story is told of an eminent lawyer receiving a severe reprimand from a witness whom he was trying to browbeat. It was an important issue, and in order to save his cause from defeat it was necessary that the lawyer should impeach the witness. He endeavored to do it on the ground of age in the following manner:

"How old are you?" asked the lawyer.

"Seventy-two years," replied the witness.

"Your memory, of course, is not so brilliant and vivid as it was twenty years ago, is it?" asked the lawyer.

"I do not know but it is," answered the witness.

"State some circumstance which occurred, say, twelve years ago," said the lawyer, "and we shall be able to see how well you can remember."

"I appeal to your honor," said the witness, "if I am to be interrogated in this manner. It is insolent!"

"You had better answer the question," replied the judge.

"Yes, sir; state it," said the lawyer.

"Well, sir, if you compel me to do it I will. About twelve years ago you studied in Judge —'s office, did you not?"

"Yes," answered the lawyer.

"Well, sir, I remember your father coming into my office and saying to me, 'Mr. D., my son is to be examined tomorrow, and I wish you would lend me $15 to buy him a suit of clothes.' I remember also, sir, that from that day to this he has never paid me a cent."

"That, sir, I remember as though it were yesterday," Philadelphia Ledger.

An Amplified Woman.
"The car was entirely empty with the exception of one man," said Miss Myra Kelly. "He was the reverse of the car. As I entered he rose, made me an unsteady but magnificent bow and said: 'Madam, please be kind 'nough to asshept this plashe.' There was nothing else for me to do, so I thanked him and sat down."

"And for twenty blocks that idiot hung from a strap, swaying in the breeze, with not a soul in the car but ourselves. Occasionally I have been taken for other women, but I never before had any one think that I was a carful."

Artificial Snow.
A curious instance of the formation of artificial snow was witnessed on one occasion in the town of Agen, in France. A fire broke out in a sawmill when the temperature was 10 degrees below freezing point. The water thrown upon the fire was instantly vaporized, and, rising in the cold, dry air, was immediately condensed and fell as snow. With bright starlight and a strong northwest wind blowing the whirling snow above and the raging fire below, a brilliant spectacle was presented.

Would Show No Mercy.
Hogan (calling on next door neighbor)—I suppose ye've heard th' illigant classical music that's bin 'mynatin' from me residence for th' pasht walek or so? We got wan av thim mechanical plannny players on thrille. Clancy (deceily)—On thrille, is it? Glory be! I only wisht I wor th' judge!—Puck.

Not a Sure Test.
Mamma—I am sure, Miranda, that Harold thinks as much of you as ever. He still eats your cooking, doesn't he?

Young Wife—Yes, but I'm afraid, mamma, he does it now from a sense of duty.—Chicago Tribune.

He who tells a lie is not sensible how great a task he undertakes, for he must be forced to invent twenty more to maintain that one.—Pope.

Politics Warming Up.

BOTH the Republican and Democratic parties will hold county conventions next month, on Aug. 10 and 3 respectively.

The terms of three Supervisors, namely Supervisors Blair Hart of the 1st District, H. W. Austin of the 3rd District, and Frank B. Glynn of the 5th District, expire this year and the conventions will nominate candidates for the above resulting vacancies.

Among the list of probabilities, have been mentioned, for Supervisors Blair Hart will undoubtedly be re-nominated by the Democrats in the 1st District.

Republicans who have been spoken of for the nomination for the same office are, B. F. Campbell and A. Pinelli of Sonoma, Harry Weise of Glen Ellen, W. A. Arlington of Cotati, and John Denman of Penn-grove.

H. L. Tripp of Santa Rosa will probably be nominated by the Republicans to represent this district in the Assembly. C. O. Dunbar of Santa Rosa has no opposition to his re-nomination by the Democrats for the same office.

THE fact remains the same that the SONOMA VALLEY EXPOSITOR is the leading newspaper of Sonoma Valley. A very large majority of our people very wisely take the paper that gives the best service for the least money and hence subscribe for EXPOSITOR, the paper that takes pleasure in unselfishly advocating whatever measures are propounded for the good of the community.

The EXPOSITOR is but a few months past six years old, but since the very beginning has enjoyed a liberal patronage, for which we are very thankful, and has grown steadily until it has far outstripped all competitors in this field.

Judicious advertisers are aware of this fact and use the columns of the EXPOSITOR for best results.

RAILS SPREAD

UNDER GRAVEL TRAIN.

SEVEN CARS LEAVE THE TRACK
AND TWO TURNED COMPLETELY OVER

Tuesday morning at about 9 o'clock a special gravel train in charge of Conductor Fields was on its way ahead of the regular morning passenger train to Santa Rosa, when near Schellville the rails spread and seven cars loaded with gravel to be used for ballasting the roadbed left the track and rolled into the ditch. Two cars turned completely over. No one was hurt, but about 450 ft. of track was torn up.

The engine never left the track and arrangements were soon made with the California Northwestern R'y. whereby an empty coach at Vineburg belonging to that company was called into use. The passengers, express and mail were transferred to the borrowed one, drawn by the construction engine, and proceeded to Santa Rosa, about three hours late. A gang of men was called immediately to repair the damage.

HAD A FINE TIME

Roy, Pauli, Julius Poppe, Lester White and Ralph Hotz returned Wednesday afternoon from their outing on the coast. They brought back many interesting tales of adventure, and a tanned skin. They did not see a barber enroute, hence had the appearance of middle-of-the-roads.

Baseball Game.

An unusually large crowd gathered to witness the baseball game, at the Chase Baseball Grounds, last Sunday afternoon between the Sonomas and the White Knights of San Francisco. The game was interesting throughout although the visiting team was no match for the home team who won easily, the score standing 16 to 3 in the Sonomas' favor.

Next Sunday's games will prove attractions and some very exciting sport is promised.

The first game which will be played at 11 A. M. will be between the White Knights of San Francisco and the Bear Flags of this valley, and the second game will be between the Sonomas and Independents, a crack team of the metropolis.

Don't Miss It.

The Social and Garden Party to be given tomorrow evening at 'Cosy Castle' the beautiful home of Dr. O'Donnell at Glen Ellen promises to be a delightful affair.

Local and San Francisco talent will take part. Among the latter Mrs. Troy and sister fine vocalists will sing a number of selections; Miss Montague who delighted her audience at Agua Caliente Garden Party, will appear in fancy dancing; the inimitable Billy Hynes is expected to assist and many other good numbers will be heard.

There are some magnificent mothers in the world to whom maternity gives an added charm, a greater strength. But how few these mothers when compared with the multitude of women who are robbed of charm, weakened and broken down by the burdens of maternity. Motherhood is the highest function of women, and nature meant it to confer the highest joy. Maternity has an entirely new meaning to those for whom it was once only another word for suffering, when they have been made well and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the nausea from which many women suffer. It encourages the appetite, tranquilizes the nerves and gives refreshing sleep. It increases the strength and gives great muscular elasticity, making the baby's advent practically painless.

"I had indigestion so bad last winter, while expecting to become a mother," writes Mrs. T. H. Timmisch, of Yorkville, Ill. (Box 189), "that I could not eat anything without it distressing me terribly. I took five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and went through with much comfort, and when baby came had nothing to suffer as compared with other times. It must be known that my case was a very remarkable one, not being over-strong and having had four children within less than three years. I was so weak and run-down I could hardly drag around. You may judge how well I am now, being left entirely alone with five children, of whom the oldest is four years, and can do all my work. I am happy, indeed, for I love children and do not care how many I have if I can be well."

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, one thousand and eight large pages in paper covers, is sent FREE on receipt of twenty-one cent stamps to pay expense of mailing ONLY. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

NATIVE SON'S HAVE

ANNIVERSARY BANQUET.

CELEBRATED THEIR SEVENTEENTH BIRTHDAY
WEDNESDAY

Wednesday evening July 20, 1904, was the 17th anniversary of the institution of Sonoma Parlor, No. 111 N. S. G. W. and the natives honored the event by a grand banquet at the City Hotel.

A number of invited guests were present and with a full membership of nearly fifty made a large and enjoyable gathering.

The tables were laden with a wealth of good things and many speeches were made laudatory of the patriotism and noble work of the order.

A Pretty Little Romance.

Friday evening, Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Thomson received an unexpected but pleasant visit from a very happy young couple from San Francisco, namely Miss Alma Cutter, a cousin of Mrs. Thomson and her lover, Mr. Norman Hodgkissan.

They were following the dictations of Master Cupid, and in their haste to obey him had forgotten to ask the permission of the bride's parents to their marriage, or in plain language, they eloped.

Their Sonoma friends received them kindly and Saturday morning they drove over to Napa and were married there by the Rev. Father in charge of that parish, returning to Sonoma after the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cutter of the metropolis and the groom is a popular young business man of excellent parts.

May their future life be one of joy unhampered, is the wish of their many friends.

Valued Improvements.

Two carloads of pipe arrived this week for the Sonoma Water Company to be used in carrying out the great improvements in the water system.

Active operations, under the supervision of Preston R. Davis, C. E., are now under way, and as soon as possible the new mains will be laid.

The pipes for the new main and sub-mains are of excellent quality, made to order of enameled wrought steel and guaranteed to last 50 years.

It is authoritatively stated that when the above improvements shall have been completed, the high insurance rates that prevail in Sonoma will be materially reduced.

Mr. Davis is looking for laborers to carry on the work as rapidly as possible and is paying them $2 per day.

Every encouragement should be given the company by the city as well as by private citizens, in their efforts to give the city of Sonoma a good modern water system.

BOY DROWNED

LAST SUNDAY.

JOSEPH BROWN MEETS DEATH
IN THE SONOMA CREEK.

Jos. Brown a news boy of San Francisco came up to the El Verano Villa last Sunday with his aunt and cousins to spend a short vacation at the El Verano Villa.

As soon as possible after arrival, he and some other boys proceeded to have a swim in Sonoma creek, they had been in the water but a few minutes when poor little Joe, slipped upon the slippery bank into deep water and before assistance could reach him was drowned.

The other small boys were unable to swim and hence were powerless to help him.

The guests at the villa, which is but a few feet from the scene of the accident, were all at dinner and did not hear the cries for help until too late to be of any service.

When assistance came, the boy was removed from the water Dr. Thomson was sent for, and in the mean time, every means was used to resuscitate the unfortunate boy to no avail.

Acting Coroner T. B. Wilson was called and immediately started for El Verano. He reached there late in the evening and held an inquest.

The jury found that deceased's name was Joseph Brown, 10 years of age and a resident of San Francisco. The boy lived with his aunt, Mrs. Gosland 215 1/2 Tehama st. He has no mother. The grief-stricken father came up Sunday evening and took the remains to San Francisco on Monday morning's train for interment.

Andrew White Dead.

Andrew White, a Union Veteran of the Civil War, a brother of G. F. White of Buena Vista, and an electrician of San Francisco passed away there on Thursday morning last, of heart failure.

Deceased was a highly respected pioneer of the metropolis and was but sixty years of age. He had been ailing but a few days and his death was a sad blow to his family.

He leaves a wife and three grown children besides a brother and sister and an aged father, who is over 90 years old, to mourn his loss.

The funeral took place in San Francisco, Monday, the ceremonies being conducted by Thomas Post, G. A. R., of that city. Interment was in the National Cemetery at the Presidio.

MR. PERRY EXPIRES.

H. B. Perry, aged 38 years, the new lessee of the ranch owned by Mrs. Reid above Agua Caliente, formerly the Wright place, passed away there last Saturday afternoon at 2:30 of tuberculosis.

Mr. Perry came from San Francisco a few months ago, and leased the above ranch thinking that the outdoor life would benefit his health, but the dread disease had already too strong a hold on the unfortunate man.

The remains were taken to Santa Rosa on Sunday, where they were embalmed preparatory to shipment to his old home in Maryland.

Deceased leaves a wife and daughter to mourn his early demise.

Glen Ellen Notes.

Roy Sexton, a young man employed by J. V. Miner met with quite an accident last Sunday. In staking out a cow, the rope in some manner got entangled about him and one of his legs was broken in several places. He was taken to the County Hospital for treatment and is now resting easy and gradually improving.

One of the neatest and most substantial improvements made in the road district and now nearly completed, is the lowering of the grade between this place and J. Chauvet's on the home road. This road since it was first built has always been dangerous, as every winter slides and washouts occurred, but which now has been done away with. Supervisor Blair Hart and his able road master, Jas. Cowan, deserve much credit for this work.

THE PROPOSED NEW CITY HALL

DESIGNED BY MR. A. C. LUTGENS OF SAN FRANCISCO.

This Plan Was Accepted at the Mass Meeting and Recommended to the Trustees.

The above is a representation of the fine new stone structure as it will look when completed, as a City Hall for the City of Sonoma, to be erected in the center of the plaza.

A. C. Lutgens, Esq., of San Francisco is the architect and explained the plans of the building at the citizens' mass meeting held in Union Hall, Thursday evening, July 7th. By unanimous vote at that meeting the plan was recommended to the Board of Trustees for adoption.

The stone to be used is a light gray basalt, and will be taken from the city quarry near town. The trimmings will be of dark red basalt donated by Mrs. L. V. Emparan.

The building will be 62 feet square with walls 2 ft. thick for the first story and 18 inches thick for the upper story.

The ground floor will contain a large room 40x40 ft., with four outside doors, and will contain the fire apparatus. On the ground floor will also be one office room, 15x15 ft. and a spacious ante-room and stairway, a jail and lavatory.

On the upper floor will be a large Trustees room in the center, surrounded by a well-lighted corridor. Off the corridor, in the four corners will be four large rooms suitable for offices. The roof will probably be covered with tiles.

It will be some time before the necessary legal advertising will have been done and actual work commenced; but the trustees are a unit on having the building completed at the earliest possible date.

THE PUBLIC DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

At a meeting of the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club, last Saturday, various plans for a public drinking fountain, to be erected in the plaza, were considered. Those designed by Architect Lutgens of San Francisco, were adopted. The plans are consistent with the style of architecture used in the new city hall.

He plead guilty to the charge of discharging firearms on the county highway and was fined $15.00 by his honor, Judge Small. He regrets the incident and the shortening of his vacation three weeks.

CLOUD BAROMETERS.

HOW TO FORETELL THE WEATHER BY LOOKING OVERHEAD.

Cirrus is the Highest of All Clouds, and Cumulus is Much the Biggest of Any Form of Cloud—The Wettest Cloud of All is Nimbus.

"It is clouding up. It must be going to rain." This is a remark you may hear constantly, and few people seem to realize that the one thing is by no means a consequence of the other. True, all clouds are composed of water vapor, but it is absurd to imagine that because clouds become visible in the sky they are therefore going to discharge their contents upon our heads.

On the contrary, some clouds are actually prophets of fine weather. Cirrus, for instance, or curl cloud, as it is often picturesquely called, is, as a rule, a fine weather harbinger. Cirrus is the highest of all clouds. You can tell that by the fact that its thin, twisty, fibrous streaks are illuminated by the last rays of the setting sun long after the earth below is wrapped in shadow. Threads and groups of cirrus clouds, the finer the better, appearing after a gale, presage a long continuance of settled weather. On the other hand, if after several fine days cirrus appears in long parallel bands stretching right across the sky in the form popularly known as "mares' tails," there will almost certainly be a change of wind and probably rain to follow.

Unlike other clouds, cirrus is composed not of water vapor, but of tiny crystals of ice. You can tell by its motion what the pace and direction of the highest current of wind. Quietly as it appears to be moving, careful observation has proven that cirrus sometimes travels at the rate of a mile in eighteen seconds.

Another form of cloud which is usually an accompaniment of fine, warm weather are those cottonlike, whitish balls which are scientifically termed cumulus.

Early in the morning of a fine summer day cumulus begins to form as a few soft, scattered clouds in the sky above. These specks grow and enlarge without, as a rule, traveling very fast, for they are formed by vapor ascending from the earth in columns. By early afternoon they often cover the whole sky, but toward 4 or 5 o'clock they usually decrease and finally vanish by sunset. If they behave in this way you may be almost certain that the ensuing twenty-four hours will be fine.

On the other hand, if the cumulus clouds increase toward sunset, turn black in their centers and shine at the edges with an angry light, rain will follow, or, in very hot weather, thunder. Thunder is specially foretold by the cumulus clouds showing rounded, sharply marked tops with silvery white edges. Cumulus, which turns very dark with black, shaggy edges, means cold rain accompanied by wind.

Cumulus is much the biggest of any form of cloud. A single cloud of this description will measure six or even seven miles from its flat, dark base to its rounded, glistening summit—that is to say, its bulk and height far exceed those of earth's greatest mountains. The temperature in such a cloud as this has been measured to vary over 150 degrees—that is, from 50 degrees Fahrenheit at the base to 75 degrees below zero at its summit.

Stratus is still another form of cloud which presents no special indication of rain. It is more common at night than in the day and consists of long, horizontal bands of darkish cloud, which lie very low and near the earth's surface. It rises on calm, clear evenings after warm days and is most often seen in mountainous districts slowly creeping up the hillsides. If the sun rises through layers of stratus it is usually a sign of a fine, warm day to come. After sunrise, stratus, as a rule, rises higher into the air and slowly disappears.

In early summer, when the weather is showery, you may, perhaps, notice, through breaks in the dense, gray appearance of dense white cloudlets in small, irregular tufts brightly irradiated by sunshine. The children call it mackerel sky. Its real name is cirro cumulus, and it is a sure sign of heat and probably fine weather. Seen in winter, mackerel sky portends a thaw and wet, mild weather. It is the next highest cloud to the cirrus and is sometimes called some cloud.

A sure prophet of wind and rain is cirro stratus or vane cloud. It consists of long, thin clouds with torn edges flying at a great height above the earth. It is dull in color and irregular in shape. The wettest cloud of all is nimbus, which is seen in its most perfect form during a thunderstorm. It is a mixture of other clouds, a dense black or gray sheet which often appears to come up against the wind. Usually when it first appears driving up over the horizon its edges are fringed and tipped with rolling masses of cumulus. The most ominous sign about a nimbus cloud is when its advancing summit is tipped with a mass of dense, white, smoky cloud, which seems to roll over and over. This is an omen of severe electrical disturbance and a furious squall.—Pearson's Weekly.

Single Nothingness. A number of Philadelphia lawyers, says the Philadelphia Ledger, were exchanging stories of their experiences with witnesses under examination. One of the party told the following:

He was questioning a witness and said, "You have lived in Philadelphia a number of years. How long?" "Just twenty-five years." "Where did you live before that time?" asked the lawyer, hoping to prove an important point. "I didn't live," replied the witness. "I was single."

Justifying His Lecture. A lecturer who had a very fine lecture on "The Decadence of Pure English" gave his address before a woman's club. At the close of the talk a very much over-dressed woman of the "fuss and feathers" type came up to him and said: "I did enjoy your talk ever and ever so much, and I agree with you that the English language is decaying awfully. Hardly no one talks proper nowadays, and the land only knows what the next generation will talk like if nothing ain't done about it."

Bishop Brooks' Answer.

Bishop Phillips Brooks never married, but at one time was very much admired, courted and annoyed by a wealthy maiden lady of New York. To her numerous communications, full of admiration and modest suggestions, she received no encouragement from Dr. Brooks. Recalling her advanced age, she grew desperate and offered, in addition to her heart and hand, all her wealth. In reply she received the following:

Madam—Your wealth give to the needy, your heart to the Lord and your hand to the man that asks for it.

Two Suggestive.

"The health officer advised me to ask every man with whom we had domestic feelings if he was careful to boil the water he used in his business."

"Yes." "Well, I asked the milkman first. And what do you think? He got mad and wanted to lick me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WOMAN AND FASHION

Attractive Blouse Waist.

No material of the many shown makes more satisfactory blouses than white mercerized madras in its varied designs, and no model suits it better than this one with combined tucks and box plaits. The lines of the back are admirable and give the tapering

TUCKS AND BOX PLAITS COMBINED.

The blouse consists of the lining, effect always sought, while the fronts are gracefully full and blouse fashionably over the belt. The sleeves are full and ample, but the shoulder straps and box plaits that meet at the center make the really notable features. The model is unlined and is closed invisibly, the buttons serving only as decoration, but the fitted foundation is always advisable for silk and wool fabrics, and the waist can be closed by means of buttons and buttonholes cut through the box plait whenever desired.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 5 yards 21 inches wide, 4 1/4 yards 27 inches wide or 2 3/4 yards 44 inches wide.

The Naval Coat.

A naval coat proves a welcome variation of the military fashions now so much worn by the younger women. It has two bars and an anchor embroidered on collar and shoulder seam straps. Frogs are used instead of buttons and buttonholes, and deep slit pockets edged with braid lie at right angles with the front.

Chemise Berthas.

A pretty and practicable idea is a detachable berthas or ruche for the chemise or underwaist. These are patterned after the bust pads of the moment, and when one is pinned over the chemise this last may be of the plainest slip description. Ribbon rosettes or bows finish the detachable berthas.

The New Girdle.

Already Dame Fashion tires of the girdle wide in the back. The proper lines of the hour are the girdle wide in front, narrow at the sides and narrow in the back. As a finishing touch a rosette of the same ribbons is used or if the belt is made of fancy material the finish is a cloth prettily shirred.

Seasonable Colors.

Champagne color and delicate green are combined in some of the new Scotch gingham, the standard wear of the American schoolgirl. These fabrics are durable, and gingham have rarely been more beautiful than those seen this season.

Smart Gown.

Smart gown of white linen. The blouse has two box plaits down the front, each trimmed with a row of buttons. The wide revers have edges cut in tabs, each tab being buttoned to the blouse in such a manner that it confines the fullness properly.

Old Styles Revived.

Small hats tilted over the face, with elaborate trimmings on the band behind, are among the old millinery shapes which are being revived.

Cool Linen Coatees.

Jaunty short jackets of solid red or white linen are sold, to be worn over cotton frocks.

A Sense of Personal Insecurity.

"What would you do if you saw a ghost?" said the man who tries to make sport of people.

"Dat ain't de question," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "What bothers me is what dat ghos' is gwine to do if he sees me."—Washington Star.

Reformed.

Patience—Peggy used to sing all over the house before she married that man. Patrice—So she did, dear, but you know he married her to reform her.—Yonkers Statesman.

In the Great Western Wheat Belt.

One square mile of wheat. Ever see it? Transcontinental trains used to stop in the Smoky Hill valley of Kansas to allow passengers a view of such a wonder. It realized all the travelers' dreams of agricultural splendor. Hundreds each vision now mark the great grain area of the plains, but the beauty is none the less. Six hundred and forty acres of wealth! It shimmered beneath the perfect opalescent blue of the sky, the tall straws bending with their weight of grain. Standing on the seat of the reaper one might see in the distance a glimmer of green pastures and catch glimpses of rustling fields of corn, but here was the heart of summer.—C. M. Harger in Scribner's.

Reason of His Alacrity.

"How on earth did you ever get a messenger boy to deliver your note and bring back the answer so quick?"

"I took his novel away from him and held it as security."—Exchange.

Tess—What do you think of my new shoes? Quite nobby, aren't they? Jess—Yes, they are rather knobby, but I think any first class chiropodist could remove the knobs.—Philadelphia Press.

Homeopathy.

Homeopathy is a theory of medicine promulgated by Dr. Samuel Hahnemann (1755-1843) of Leipsic in 1810. It asserts that any disease should be treated by medicines in minute doses that would produce in a healthy patient symptoms similar to those manifested by the disease requiring treatment. This is the principle of "like diseases are cured by like remedies" (Latin, similia similibus curantur) and is based on the theory that two similarly diseased conditions cannot subsist in the same organ at the same time.

The Boston Maid and the Author.

Garnish—I see you have my novel. I'll bet you had to look at the last page to see how it came out. Miss Quizzer—No, I looked at the name of the publishers on the title page to see how it came out, and even now I can't understand how it was.—Boston Transcript.

What Did She Mean?

"If you feel chilly," said he as they strolled, "remember I have your shawl here on my arm."

"You might put it around me," she said demurely.—Philadelphia Press.
